Ten Parts of the Rite (1234-1245) Of Baptism

The rite of Baptism shows clearly the sacrament's meaning and graces:

1. The sign of the cross (the imprint of Christ) signifies the redemption won for us by Christ.
2. The Word of God enlightens the person and calls forth a response of faith.
3. The exorcism shows freedom from sin and from the devil's power. This is completed by the laying on of hands and the anointing with the oil of catechumens. The person can then profess the faith of the Church.
4. The consecration of the baptismal water asks that the Father send the Spirit upon the water (epiclesis), so the person will be "born of water and the Spirit."
5. The Baptism itself is the essential rite and brings about death to sin and entry into new life. This is conferred by a triple immersion into the water or by pouring the water three times over the candidate's head.
6. The words used (in the Latin Church) are "I baptize you in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit." The last uses similar words "The Servant of God is baptized in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit."
7. The anointing with sacred chrism signifies that the newly baptized has received the Holy Spirit and is anointed priest, prophet, and king. In the East, this anointing is Chrismation (Confirmation). In the Roman liturgy, this anointing announces that Confirmation will be received years later.
8. The white garment symbolizes the person's sharing in Christ's new life.
9. The candle symbolizes the inner enlightenment by Christ, "the light of the world." The newly baptized (now a child of God) can say "Our Father."
10. First Holy Communion. The neophyte can now be admitted to "the marriage supper of the Lamb" (Rev 19:9). The Latin Church

(reserving Eucharist to those who have attained the age of reason) express this Eucharistic orientation by having the baptized child brought to the altar for the "Our Father."

11. Three final blessings (of which the blessing of the mother has a special place) complete the rite.

WHO CAN RECEIVE?

Not Yet Baptized? (1246)

"Every person not yet baptized" and only such a person is "able to be baptized" (In the West, Canon 864; in the East, Canon 679).

The Catechumenate (1247-1249)

Where the Gospel is newly preached, the catechumenate has an important role in disposing the adult for the full initiation gift.

The catechumenate must bring the person to conversion and to mature faith. The person is led (by successive rites) into the Church's faith, liturgy and charity.

Because the catechumens (even before Baptism) are joined to the Church and are leading a life of faith, "the Church embraces them as her own" (Second Vatican Council).

Infant Baptism (1250-1252)

Children need the new birth of Baptism to be freed from darkness and brought into God's family. Because infant Baptism shows God's total gratuitousness, the Church (and parents) would deny the children a priceless gift if they were not baptized shortly after birth. Infant Baptism has certainly been practiced since the second century and quite possibly from the very beginning of the Church since Scripture speaks of "households" being baptized (See Acts 16:15, 33; 18:8; 1 Cor 1:16).

Need for Beginning Faith (1253-1255)

To be baptized, the person needs only a "beginning faith" (not a perfect and mature faith). This beginning faith requires a community of believers within which the believer's faith can develop. Because this baptismal faith must grow, every year at Easter time the Church celebrates the renewal of baptismal promises.

Especially important is the role of the parents. Also, godparents must be firm believers and ready to help the person's faith. Actually, the whole Church bears responsibility for developing the grace of Baptism.

Who Can Baptize? (1256)

The ordinary ministers are the bishop, the priest, and in the Latin Church, the deacon. If necessity, anyone (even someone not baptized) can baptize. They must have the intention to will what the Church does when she baptizes and use the Trinitarian baptismal formula. The Church sees this possibility for others to baptize because Baptism is necessary for salvation.

NECESSITY OF BAPTISM

The Only Door We Know (1257)

Jesus clearly told the apostles to baptize their disciples (Mt 28:19). "Whoever believes and is baptized, will be saved; whoever does not believe will be condemned" (Mk 16:16). Because Baptism is the only door to eternal happiness which the Church knows, she makes sure that all are baptized. Although God has bound salvation to Baptism, he himself is not bound by his sacraments (he can save by other means).

Death Before Baptism (1258)

Some, although not baptized, have suffered death because of faith in Christ. This Baptism of blood, much like Baptism of desire, brings about the fruits of the sacrament.

Catechumens who die before Baptism are assured of eternal salvation by their desire for Baptism and their repentance for sins.

Salvation of Those Not Baptized (1259-1261)

Because God wants everyone to be saved, the Spirit gives everyone a chance to share in Christ's death and rising. Those who are ignorant of the Gospel and the Church, yet seek the truth and do God's will (according to their understanding) can be saved. It is supposed that such persons would desire Baptism explicitly if they knew its necessity.

Concerning children who have died without Baptism, the mercy of God (who wills all to be saved) and Jesus' tenderness toward the children, allow the Church to hope that these children are saved. The Church calls parents not to prevent their children from receiving Baptism.
